"Xpressions"- English Literary Festival

Foreword

AND WHILE YOU WERE BUSY COUNTING THE BRICKS, THEY BUILT A MANSION .

Harold coffin very well said, "Envy is the art of counting the other fellow's blessings instead of your own". And very often we fall in this bogging trap which leads to nothing but unpeaceful pleasure. A man who envy's tends to find disorder and evil of every kind.

I would like to make you aware of something every individual must be. That is, you are special and unique just like everyone else. Every single cell in your body has a genetic formation unlike others. Which means it makes you "YOU" among the 7.8 billion people in the world. The world has only one you. And I want you to ask yourself why would I want to be like someone else or envy what someone else achieves, when I am me and not him or her? You as an individual have equal potential and at least one uniqueness that no one else has and why not make the best out of it, which can add a feather to your cap?

You could be great anything, a world famous artist, chef, doctor, teacher, scientist, blogger etc. But will you make the best of your talent and resources if you waste your time trying to be someone else?

What if the world famous cricketer Sachin Tendulkar would decay his cricket skills and waste his time envying Michael Jackson for his singing and dancing? Would he not loose his talent and also not be famous as he is now? It is not just about success but also about multiplying what you have. And this multiplication will lead you to be more stronger and better "you" on a large platform than rather choosing to be someone else.

Here I would like to tell you about two things, that secret to self satisfaction, peace and success is multiplying what you have and not envying what others multiply, for you shall end up disappointed. The Bible says, "A sound heart is life to the body, but envy is rottenness to the bones". This makes it very clear that we have been doing wrong not just to others but to ourselves too. When you focus on your growth more than the upswing or undoing of others you make time and room for new newfangled plans and windows of opportunities.

Your process and outcome of magnification and germination is vivid than the others around you but be wise. Focus on multiplying what you have in hand rather than seeing it decay, while the others make the best out of it.

At the end I would like to rephrase a song that world famous singer Selena Gomez sang,
Don't be a work of art
That never gets to see the light
Keeps you beneath the stars
And Won't let you touch the sky.

World Tribal Day

9th August is celebrated as the "World Tribal Day" or the "International Day Of The World's Indigenous People".The World Tribal Day is observed to promote and protect the rights of the world's indigenous population, acknowledging the contributions that indigenous people make towards world issues such as environmental protection.

Birsa Munda was an Indian freedom fighter and a tribal leader who revolted against the British. His portrait hangs in the Indian Parliament Museum; he is the only tribal leader to have been so honored. So our students from the government tribal project paid homage to this great leader in their respective villages during this lockdown.
